VARIATION IS PART OF THE NATURAL BEAUTY

Process:

The Aspen Wood Grain Finishes are created with a three step process. The aluminum material is chemically pre-treated to prepare the surface for paint. Then, a base coat of paint is applied. Finally, a special ink pattern is applied through a sublimation process. The final result is an integrated color that mimics real wood finishes.

Maintenance:

Simulated wood grain finishes perform best when cleaned with soap and water. No solvents, glass cleaners, abrasive materials, etc. should be used.

Expectations:

Wood grain finishes are designed to mimic wood, consequently there will be color variations between extrusions, within extrusions and on the same projects just like wood. Additionally, wood grains follow the "long" dimension of the material, so some products may have wood grain that runs in different directions like below (*).

Additionally small blemishes may be touched up during the manufacturing process. Imperfections that are difficult to detect from 6 feet are not considered manufacturing defects.

Real Wood

Real wood products have color variations between panels and frequently the grain will run in different directions.*

Just like real wood, CGI's Aspen wood grain finishes will have some color variations and wood grain that runs in different directions.*
